Thank you for making the 2018 MHC Annual Meeting a SUCCESS!

Representative Jim Wayne was the Guest of Honor at the 2018 MHC Annual Meeting. Thank you to Mayor Fischer for honoring Rep. Wayne’s work in the continuing fight for safe, fair, and affordable housing! Rep. Wayne was instrumental to establishing the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, which has created more than 10,000 housing units for low-income families since 1994 and now has a steady funding source thanks to his persistent support and the support of community advocacy groups.

Thank you to Richard Rothstein of the Economic Policy Institute for giving the keynote address and Lexington Fair Housing Council for sponsoring the keynote. Also, thank you to Louisville Mayor Greg Fischer and Louisville Metro Council members David James, Barbara Sexton Smith, Rick Blackwell, and Cheri Bryant Hamilton for attending.

And to Council members Bill Hollander and Kevin Kramer who supported the event, but were attending to official duties at a Louisville Metro Council Budget Hearing. Thank you to each and everyone of you who are engaged in the coalition’s efforts for safe, fair, and affordable housing in Louisville.
Thank you to ALL of our sponsors for supporting the 2018 MHC Annual Meeting and for your commitment to safe, fair, and affordable housing!

Neighborhood House Welcomes New Executive Director
Yvette Livers has been selected as the next Executive Director of the Neighborhood House (NH). Yvette comes to the NH from a robust nonprofit background, having spent the last 20 years in executive leadership positions in Louisville, Kentucky, Ohio, and Indiana.

She graduated from the University of Louisville and most recently served as executive director of South Louisville Community Ministries. She is passionate about uplifting communities and working to break the cycle of poverty, and is looking forward to starting during the summer months so she can see our Dreamers’ Academy first-hand.

“The services Neighborhood House provides are of the utmost importance to the people in and around Portland, more so now than ever before. I am eager to meet the youth, families and senior adults in the community, and to start working with the staff,” Yvette said after learning she’d been selected.

A BRIEF SUMMARY OF RICHARD ROTHSTEIN’S KEYNOTE ADDRESS

By Cathy Hinko
MHC Executive Director

The keynote speaker at the Annual Meeting was Richard Rothstein, author of Color of Law and a former national education columnist for the New York Times. MHC asked Mr. Rothstein to use what he had uncovered in his Color of Law research about government engineered segregation in the context of education.

This is a brief summary of his line of thought. The “No Child Left Behind Act” had as its premise that there would be better outcomes if teachers had more belief in the success of children. But that does not account for children who were not able to fully function in school because of causes or stressors outside of school. His example was a child who was up half the night due to asthma (as a side note, in 2004, MHC did a study on incidence of hospitalizations for childhood asthma and found the likelihood of being hospitalized, per child, was 46 times more in some zip codes than others, see Out of Breath on the MHC website).

If outside causes and stressors were a root cause of scholastic performance then housing conditions were directly accountable. That leads to the question of how did we wind up with severe segregation by race and class. The government intervention in housing was directly and intentionally culpable. The change occurred in the 20th century.

As the need for housing increased, the government got involved in production. Public housing was originally built for working class people, but was built, by law, to be racially segregated. In World War II, when housing for defense factory workers was necessary, it was built to be segregated with lesser materials for the housing for Black people. Post-war new suburbs were built that were only possible because of government guaranteed loans that, by law prohibited selling to Black people. Our white suburbs were federally subsidized, and required to be white, a fact that most white homeowners forget now that the value of their homes has increased.

Intentionally building all white suburbs emptied the cities of whites, especially noticeable in the public housing which was designated for whites. Eventually Black people, who were kept out of all white suburbs through restrictive covenants, populated the public housing formerly reserved for whites. As the value of homes in the suburbs increased, wealth for whites increased. Access to jobs decreased for Black people as jobs moved out of the city core. After 1968, the places that were segregated by law became segregated by remaining practice, perpetuating the enforced racial segregation. Schools became racially segregated as well.

Housing for blacks deteriorated. In Louisville, the segregated areas within the urban core are where lead paint still remains, as well as asbestos and lack of insulation to lower heating bills. These are real impediments to children being able to thrive academically.

LHOME RECEIVES CDFI CERTIFICATION!

Louisville Housing Opportunities and Micro-Enterprise (LHOME) is now certified by the U.S. Treasury as a Community Development Financial Institution (CDFI)!

Metropolitan Housing Coalition (MHC) Board Member Faith Weekly brought Jewish Family and Career Services (JFCS) together with the MHC because we were both working to form a CDFI. JFCS does micro-business lending and MHC was tired of waiting for a housing CDFI to be formed, so we took it on together.

While it is clear that the lion’s share of making this work was JFCS, MHC helped all along. After lending in preparation for asking for certification, and receiving a grant from the U.S. Treasury for building our capacity, both MHC and JFCS agreed that operating what was essentially a bank was beyond our capacities. Then we did what makes Louisville such a great place. We handed off, along with the full capacity grant, the administration of the hope-to-be CDFI to New Directions Housing Corp. and Housing Partnership, Inc (HPI). MHC retained a seat on the board of LHOME, with Adam Hall as the MHC representative. Hall is a former MHC Board member and Board president. He also is a vice president and community and economic development manager with Fifth Third Bank.

HPI and New Directions took the work load, hired a director, and in less than a year lined everything up for certification. JFCS still has money lent to LHOME for loans to individuals, a necessary part of showing that LHOME can oversee lending. Along with our intense and very successful work to create the Louisville Affordable Housing Trust Fund, MHC has helped create a home-grown CDFI.

So what is the benefit of having a home-grown CDFI, especially one focused on housing and micro-enterprise? We are now able to bring in national money to the Louisville community that was previously not available to the Louisville community. This is a HUGE step forward for Louisville and has the potential to really help fund affordable housing and improve incomes for lower income people.

Help JFCS and MHC celebrate this great accomplishment made possible by tons of work by tons of people and organizations.

Being a coalition - we work with partners to achieve common goals and continue the advocate for safe, fair, and affordable housing.

THANK YOU TOM MOFFETT!

Our community lost a great advocate for civil rights with the death of Tom Moffett at age 94. We at MHC visited with him in April because Tom arranged for MHC to present about fair and affordable housing to the activist group of residents at his apartment building! Tom was always there to advocate and, when necessary, to protest. He will be missed.

THANK YOU REP. JIM WAYNE!

As many of you know, Rep. Jim Wayne is retiring from his position as Representative from District 35 of the Kentucky House of Representatives. MHC wishes to thank Rep. Jim Wayne for his decades of service to social justice in Louisville and across the Commonwealth of Kentucky. Thank you for being a strong voice and a key ally in the fight for safe, fair, and affordable housing!
